Cabernet Sauvignon

THE STORY OF CABERNET SAUVIGNON

This wine is luscious, dark and brooding, and ready to make the day-to-day feel a little bit more adventurous. This wine screams to be shared with friends. It's a medium-bodied Cabernet that is soft and easy to drink, yet bold enough to make a statement. The sultry combination of chocolatey notes paired with dark fruit delight the senses. When thinking about a great wine for an evening of BBQ meats, this one comes to mind.

VINEYARD

Horse Heaven Hills is wild at heart and one of Washington's most sought after appellations, producing some of the best Cabernet Sauvignon wines made in the Pacific Northwest. Located on an anticline of the Yakima fold belt, the semi-arid climate, basalt bedrock and series of wrinkles in the earth, create slopes ideal for grape growing.
